

I've been running around with a conspiracy thought for a while that I want to share with you. It may be a bit too far fetched, but I believe that those in power behind the scenes will pull another rabbit out of the top hat.

It is now clear that there is only one thing in the world at the moment and that is vaccination. Vaccinate, vaccinate and vaccinate again, it still seems to be the only solution against the cold pandemic and that while a lot of scientists are screaming bloody murder that this will absolutely not be the solution.

Why this huge push towards vaccinations? Why do children also need to be vaccinated?

Now we can say that these vaccinations are there to make the people infertile, to have total control, to give the old ones the last push or in the worst case to get all people mortally ill for years to come, but I think it may not happen that easily.

If this is going to happen, we will immediately have the guilty parties in sight and the police and the army will also drop politics and we will have complete chaos and that is what the illuminati just don't want, they want a controlled transition to a new world.

We therefore say goodbye to many zombies and faithful followers, because they are the ones who are in the front line for the shot. Those annoying awake people who are looking for something behind everything will still be there, however, those who have refused the shot are still happily hopping around. I don't think this is the scenario they have in mind.

I think we may have to approach the whole vaccination story in a different way, maybe we should assume that the vaccinations will have a preventive effect on something that is yet to come, something that will ensure that part of the vaccinated will make it and that the awake, self-thinking person, who has not had a vaccination, may go down.

Perhaps we should keep a close eye on the scenario we had for the future, a third world war, and start brainstorming what scenario could be favorable for the vaccinated.

When we talk about a major war we are also talking about atomic bombs and a side effect of an atomic bomb is of course the radiation. Now I don't think that the whole earth is flattened because this is of no use to the illuminati and I also think that it will become a play, Russia and China are also in the new world order. It will be a controlled nuclear war that will, however, put the entire world population in mortal fear and certainly on the day of the big event will certainly kill many millions, but the aftermath will be interesting.

What if the atomic bombs are thrown in such a way that the whole world is confronted with a certain amount of radioactive radiation that will not be lethal or even harmful to the vaccinated person. However, the unvaccinated quickly die. An interesting documentary is the coming war on China, it shows nicely where we are going and how much America has already experimented with radioactive radiation on people and what to do about it. It may well be possible that to a large extent the radiation effects in humans can already be significantly reduced.

A possible drug is DBIBB and this is an agonist for lpa2. In short, DBIBB instructs certain cells in our body to produce certain proteins in order to repair or prevent damage caused by radioactivity. The same goes for the drug DMOG. Of course, this method is familiar to us since the Mrna vaccinations in fact work exactly that way. Of course, I am not shocked that there may be much better medicines that have not yet been announced.

Could it be that the world population is given a preventive medicine for radioactive radiation? Will this radioactive radiation come from a few atomic bombs or is it a preventive action before Fukushima dumps huge amounts of radioactive water into the ocean? It certainly could explain some seemingly nonsensical vaccinations, think of the kids. They will also be able to say goodbye to that annoying awake person and those nasty Christians who just keep going their own way.

No vaccine for me as long as they don't tie me up, even if it would be my "salvation" in a third world war. The most important thing we can do is continue to respect each other no matter what our opinion is, no matter what, it doesn't matter, we're all in the same shit show, the Gog and Magog war.
